William Bradford's account of the journey:

They put to sea again with a prosperous wind.

Many were afflicted with seasickness.

After they had enjoyed fair winds and weather,
they met with many fierce storms.

The ship was thoroughly shaken.

They knew the ship to be strong.

So they resolved to proceed.

After long beating at sea they fell with that land which is called Cape Cod: they were not a little joyful!

They fell upon their knees and blessed the God of heaven.
